

氣 Aikido

at the Wewelsburg 1.- 4. of May 2025

mexican artist Jorge Méndez Blake created this sculpture titled “The Castle.” At first glance, the work appears to be a normal brick wall, but upon closer inspection, you can see a subtle, curved bulge in the center of the 23-meter-long structure. When a viewer looks down from the curved top, they realize that the cause is a single book. In the foundation of the mortarless wall, between the ground and the first layer of bricks, is Franz Kafka's book “The Castle”.

observation & perception

often go hand in hand and depend on each other.

In the workshop at Wewelsburg we want to refine our Aikido movements and techniques with the basic theme of opening & closing through observing & perceiving.

And... we want to give young, advanced Aikidoka the opportunity to deal with the topic and to design and lead an Aikido lesson.

On the mat you will meet students of all ages - children, teens and adults from different dojos, different backgrounds and Aikido experiences.

Please contact us if you are interested and we will try to arrange the workshop schedule accordingly.
